

My wife and I built our home with Mike Pomarico in 1998 and cannot say enough about the experience. Mike quickly put to rest the myth of the unapproachable and disinterested contractor the minute we met him in his office. As we progressed through the building process, he made sure to include us every step of the way and was responsive to all of our requests and any changes we were looking to make-in fact it was not uncommon to receive a phone call from Mike on a weekly basis informing us of the upcoming work to be done. We were extremely satisfied with the workmanship from start to finish and found all the contractors a pleasure to deal with. If we were to build again we would, without a doubt, build a Pomarico home.
