

When my husband and I wanted to build a new home, we asked my sister who she recommended. She said that she had her home build from Michael F. Pomarico Co. in 1987 and they were very satisfied with their home and his service. When we went to Mike's office to decide on a house, he was so warm and friendly and extremely knowledgeable that I knew we were in good hands. He has been in the home building business for many, many years and has pictures of many of the houses on his office walls. By looking at the walls, you could see that he is truly a diverse, custom home builder. What ever your custom home building needs are, he will provide them for you with a smile. We saw a particular house that we fell in love with and decided that this is the one. He asked if we wanted to see the house and possibly have a tour so we could really see what the house would look like. I thought that this was wonderful because I was actually able to see what I was getting. Through this, we were able to make some changes to suit our needs. Whatever we wanted, we able to get. He was very accommodating.

During the building of our home, we had a variety of quality building materials to choose from like the carpeting, flooring, siding, lighting fixtures, windows, plumbing fixtures etc.... All of the materials were always well above what was considered the norm. Every time we went to a company to choose one of our many options, the store owners said you are getting very high quality materials to choose from. It always reinforced that were made the right choice to go with Mike Pomarico.

It was always so exciting to go over to see our new home being built. The workers were very friendly. They were always on time and the construction site was always kept clean. Mike was always there if we needed him for any reason. Even after our home was completed, if we had a question, he was always available for us. They even came back a year later for any repairs needed after the house settles. Now, that is a quality, custom home builder. If we were to ever build another new home, Mike would be the first person we would go to build us another beautiful home. I would highly trust and recommend using Michael F. Pomarico, Custom Home Builders to build your new home. You will not regret it!

Sincerely,
